My precious Laughter: I am constrained by affectionate interest in you and your to write you again today. It was a real feast when I opened my mail this morning.
I read everything in the papers, and regretted see the announcement of 2 ath of Mrs. Christopher our Real Daughter. Tell Mary Mason to notify the Treasurer Genl. so they will not send her pension.

I had just received a letter from Mrs. Chas. Thack asking about her, and which I enclose with one from Florence and another from poor Mrs. Shearon. Please hand the last named to Mr Cone, and tell him I hope he will write this poor fortunate woman. I have been her ^{her} ~~care~~ ^{health} ~~care~~ ^{mentally} out in search of Horne's friends and found them pleasantly located a flock from me. They spoke in tender and complimentary terms of Mary, Thome and the girls. Mrs. Watson said she told her (Mary) goodbye as she does not expect her to be there when she returns home. The cheerfulness of the daughters and their selfeffaced devotion to their parents and each other she said was rare as it was beautiful - I was so sorry that Harry lost his fine cow! Was this her first calf?

There are many stock raisers in Ila. They have a fine hay called Natal, brought from Africa. they are trying to introduce here.
The feed are very costly.
I was so glad to know that you had your furs, and they were satisfactory! I am afraid Pott will forget me. Does he try to talk?
I have a premonition that Horne will go as May Belle did. They are in many ways - Give my love or from those hold & cherish
