Thought you-all and Frances might be interested in this, thus the copy :

Went to the C-A and Scimitar composing and proof room Monday evening, where I met John Burns, originally of Milan, Tenn. Said he knew Bruce Nelson. He remarked, without prompting, that Mr. Kelley said "We'll have to put on another machine to keep up with that new proofreader, WWalker."

I asked Ms. J., the sole owner, by the way, if my proofs were satisfactory. He said this : "I heard some of the boys in the wash room say 'If that one-arm mah was any faster on make-up, the "Chief" (Jamison) would start cutting off some arms.'"

All of which, needless to say, made me feel good --- and humble and grateful.
