What God joined together let no man take apart ... now we are back together again.

We love you Mama,

You were the special part that made your girls who they are.
The caring of family give us the start.

Your wisdom, style and laughter, the funny things you say, will forever remain in our hearts, and you will be missed.
Now that you're with PaPa, we send you both a big kiss.

Your Girls,
Pat, Sue and Charlene

Dear Grandma I promised you,

I promised you that everything would be ok that you were in God's hands and Papa would soon come get you.

I promised you that we would hate to see you go but we would be ok and we would keep your spirit and joy alive.

I promised you that even though we wouldn't want to, we would make it without you and the love and laughter you gave us would keep us going.

I promised you that no matter what we love you and everything would be ok and it is now that you and Papa are once again together.

Your Granddaughter,
Lynette

Aunt Hattie,
You light up our lives in so many ways in so many ways. You were always there for us and we love you for it. You will truly be missed but so close in our hearts.

Love, Your Nieces and Nephews

Obituary

Born to Joseph (Joe) Fletcher and Haze Fletcher on February 3, 1930 in the little town of Athens, Alabama, was Hattie Louise Fletcher. Her parents have long since preceded her in death.

Hattie attended grammar school here in Athens, and later moved to Chicago, Illinois with her Aunt Kattie, also deceased. There she was raised together with her first cousins Georgene, Winford, Dorothy and Cleveland, Cleveland preceded her in death.

There mom attended and graduated from Finger High School. Soon after, she met and married Pat Strange Jr. Pat, Hattie's beloved husband, has too proceeded her in death. From that union they had five children. Two of which, Brenda and Darnell, have also proceeded her in death.

During the course of being a stay-at-home mom, mom attended and completed business school, at the then and famous Cortez Peter's Business College in Chicago. Her target and goal was to master championship typewriting and secretarial skills, a goal she achieved. She then entered into Corporate America as a skilled executive secretary working for corporations such as Science Research & Associates (SRA), International Business Machinery (IBM) and finally Time Life Magazine, now known as Time, where she retired after 15 years of service.

Hattie leaves to cherish her memory, three daughters, Patricia, Susan and Charlene, together with eight (8) grandchildren, Lisa, Terri, Monica, Denise, Ernest, Carolyn, Candace, and Lynette. Also, eight (8) great grandchildren, Camerin, Holly, Rian, Terrance Jr., Brenden, Jasmine, Tevin, and her newest great daughter, Makensy Lynn. She also leaves a host of nieces, nephews and cousins, from California to Canada and the Collier family from childhood.
