WHEN JESUS COMES

*There'll be no more suffering then,
No nights that are sleepless, no pain,
No kind of affliction for children
of men*

When Jesus to earth comes again.

*No heart then will evermore ache,
No mind will have problems
up there:*

There'll never be mortgage or payments to make

On mansions He's gone to prepare.

*We'll know as we long to be known,
No misunderstandings will rise.*

But, heart close to heart we'll no more feel alone,

Where trust ever reigns—not surmise.

*Inhabitants there shall not say
I'm sick—no appointments need miss;*

*At all times the body the mind will obey
No ailments will mar heaven's bliss.*

*No telegrams sad to receive,
No funeral sermons to hear,
No news nor conditions to cause one to grieve*

When Jesus at last shall appear!

*Blest hope! When the Saviour appears,
All darkness, all trouble, must go;
Earth's upset and tangles will*

straighten, and tears

Shall never, no, nevermore flow.

*If trials be many or few,
What matter? Why think on earth's pain?*

*Take courage and sing, for full soon
(Yes, it's true!)*

Our Jesus is coming again!
