Dear Mr. Walker,

Thank you very much for the copy of your letter to Mr. Barnes about the publication of my parole notice. I am certain Mr. Barnes will have the affidavit in my hands in good time.

While I had heard of your father's illness, I did not know that that illness was of a nature sufficiently severe to have confined Mr. Walker, Sr., to his bed over such a protracted period. My primary reason for writing this letter is to express my wishes through yourself, to your father for his speedy and complete recovery. Possibly I presume too much to do this, but I admire him a great deal, and hope that the good wishes of a man, even in my unhappy position, will not be unwelcome. At any rate, they are sincere — believe me!

Most respectfully,

Tom Wilson.
