

Oct. 2nd 11

Dear Henry:

I concur with you in the Bauer loan. I also concur in your idea as to small loans is as much as one large loan common, probably, be had - Your judgment as to the safety, security, of loans will control my judgment.
Mr. Walker's idea strikes me as excellent - Hence I have drawn up the enclosed paper in triplicate.
If you, Henry and Walter and Mr. Walker find it satisfactory in every particular, it can be signed by you all, returning ^{me} copy to me. I want to insist that you are free perfectly free to criticize or dissent from the paper. I see no need of an acknowledgment, if it is signed.

— not — answered —
your approval of it.

Out signifying this letter is enclosed or some similar paper, (Trustees) It will give us an authority to come before and to ask in the premises.

 She has already laid out a use for her little fund. So I'm writing Eugene Senner. That she cannot make the loan. She asked me to report her deep oppression by our former kindness.
 The loan is a good ~~to~~ one in my opinion; and, if she had got in otherwise, she would have taken this other money.
 As I see where Rowles has become the precursor of human pardon(?). I suppose he will be miserable if he should win with of Sanderson goes dry, it will influence Simestone. Do you, no. take in the papers that blind tiger still flourish here and not mobile, and how fine like has become as a means of stopping blind tigers. Funny! Funny!

Any more? You know, pick over them and besides
 I have no place for them and can't care for them any more. I have no place for them and can't care for them