

Oct 10, 1920

Supreme Court of Alabama
Montgomery

Sunday

Dear Mother:

This October
is running true to form, the most beautiful
month of the year in Montgomery. It has enough chill to increase energy, a condition the hot months forbid.

Ruth is back at school and is fairly happy in the renewal of her work. We find it necessary to rise earlier in order to get her off to school in time. It is a little inconvenient to get her in, but possibly pick her up in their car almost every morning. It may be we ought to have a small, light car for Ruth and me. I continue to work in and that regular exercise has ^{improved} my physical condition.

There isn't any noticeable improvement with us. Sue is still disappointed in not being able to get her cutting up. Women in this house seem to really resent any disposition to leave them. The absence of a desire on their part to do conscientious work is most provoking.
I see from the Democrat that Miss

^{3/1} Ria and know. or to return in numbers.
After they are making a mistake. Some people can live along with in Colorado who can not live south anymore. Young Flanagan
(P. L. L.) is one of them.

Same in receipt of a very complimentary letter from Dean
Rev. H. Wigmore
of Mount Western University (Chicago) inviting me to lecture there next

Y

Supreme Court of Alabama

Montgomery

~~and~~ July and August in the summer law school. The compensation about $200, a little more. The cost of the trip and good living. I appreciate the privilege, but cannot say yet whether I will accept. It would be well to keep the matter in the family for the present. Wigmore is the leading law author of this day and also the evening law teacher. The opportunity for association there during the summer would be the most attractive feature to me.

Do you remember (if I did) any writing you some few years ago about a bundle or box of private notes I had left at Rogers Walker's office? I've both tried & this recollection. If you have any recollection of the matter, write me about it.

I was glad to see Kate M.C. had been a good house at home. I suppose Kate M.C. is still prospering. I haven't seen Ann R.D. for a long time, nor heard of any suit being brought by her D.
Love to all, Snow & Henry
Your devoted son
Tom