Dear Dad:—

I received your letter and the one from Dean Johnson today. I am sorry too, and am determined to apply myself more between now and exams ~~than~~ than ever before. I give you my word of honor that I will not go out except on Saturday nights between now and exams. I have to go to fraternity meetings on Saturday nights but they are over by 8:30. I sincerely believe that I have come to and realize now what I am doing—treading the primrose path that leads to the everlasting bonfire". I shall study tonight from 7 to 11

and prepare for tomorrow.
I am willing to let anything
that I don't flunk on exams.
Of course, there is a disadvantage
in going into classes at mid year but I shall overcome this.
Assuring you that I have realized my plight, I am,
Your devoted son,

William.

P. S. March 1st. Put in 6 hours yesterday morning and last night. Please send me my B.V.D.'s as I haven't a change of underwear.

William.

Also send a few stamps. Am drawing no spending money now.
